The diagram illustrates the guitar part for "The Sound of Silence". It features two staves: a top staff labeled 'T' (Treble Clef) and a bottom staff labeled 'TAB' (Guitar Tablature). Above the staves, chord names are written: Em/B, C, E7/G#, Asus4, Am, Em, Am7, B7, and Em. Fret numbers are placed directly on the string lines. The TAB staff includes additional markings such as '31', '32', '33', '34', and '35' at specific points, likely indicating fingerings or bends. The notation uses standard musical symbols like beams, slurs, and accidentals to represent the sequence of notes and chords throughout the piece.
